To the Society of Inquiry
on Missions in Princeton Seminary

Dear Brethren

I had intended to have written a long letter to you to accompany this small box of minerals but the ship sails too soon, and the letter must remain for an other opportunity. The minerals were all or nearly all collected by myself in my journeys through the country.— All the shell petrifactions which have no label were gathered at Ahleigh on mt. Lebanon.—

May the Lord of Missions shed down showers of heavenly blessings upon your society, the beloved professors, and Seminary over which they preside, is the fervent prayer of your Christian Brother & fellow-labourer in the vineyard of the Lord
